

Animal, Ecological & Conservation Mapping

We're really enjoying our experience learning and growing in the community. Our deployment is a tangent away from the political themes as we're working to create a global citizen journalism hub to bring together thousands of disparate ecological, animal and conservation groups worldwide. All of our campaigns - including the new OpRhinoceros protecting endangered Rhinoceros worldwide - are directed from our main website onto the Ushahidi deployment. With the upcoming mobile app we expect to coordinate a never before seen global conservation effort.
